

118 POUND TUNA ?

WALLACE TUPPER MUST DEFEND HIS REPUTATION FOR VERACITY.

Wallace Tupper of the Glendale Garage returned with his wife from a fishing trip to Catalina, Sunday night. It will be remembered that Messrs. Tupper, Hinchliff and Turner own a launch with which they have undertaken to make war upon the finny tribes and Mr. Tupper has brought back a thrilling tale of the capture of an 118-pound tuna, but no evidence to sustain the narrative. His intimate friends declare that he has not yet been able to convince his wife of the veracity of his account and so his envious acquaintances are placing themselves by casting doubt upon his prowess and suggesting that he dreamed it. Roy Hinchliff, who is associated with him in business, left this morning (Wednesday) for Catalina, where he will breast the waves with the aforementioned launch in pursuit of tuna. He was accompanied by Jack Reid, son of Sylvanus Reid of this city. In partnership with Roy Pierce, Jack has been raising food for the starving millions on a Missouri farm. It proved not to be as strenuous a form of patriotic service as he hungered for, so he sold out his interest, prepared his good little old Ford for an overland journey and arrived in Glendale last Saturday after spending nine days on the road. He returned for the special purpose of enlisting in the army, but he as well as Mr. Hinchliff have declared that they will not appear in Glendale again until they have each secured a tuna, and their skeptical friends are gloomily predicting that they have seen the last of them. To the unprejudiced outsider it would seem likely that a man who could travel for nine days in a Ford from Missouri to join the colors, would be able to "show them" and the reports of the campaign in Catalina waters will be awaited with interest, meanwhile Mr. Tupper is to be heard from in defense of his reputation as a fisherman.

Following the luncheon she was made the recipient of a miscellaneous shower of such pretty and useful things as delight a bride-elect. About thirty ladies participated in the affair, returning late in the afternoon.

MAGAZINE CIRCULATE

SUBSCRIPTION LIST OF BETTER CLASS PERIODICALS DUPLICATED AT LIBRARY.

Relative to current magazines, Mrs. Danford, City Librarian, reports:

"It has been our custom to hold the better magazines for six months, after which they were bound and allowed to circulate. This method not only avoided the purchase of expensive reference books, but provided accessible material on recent topics and current events, as they are very wide in their scope. However, the demand for the circulation of some of these magazines has grown until it was deemed necessary to duplicate some of the best and the following comprises the list: Literary Digest, National Geographic, Scribner's, Harper's, Century and World's Work. This arrangement provides the latest copy of these magazines to circulate and yet retains the six months for reference. The plan has proven most satisfactory and will, no doubt, be of vital interest to our patrons."

EXTRA PLY TIRES

PACKER AND WHITE AUTO COMPANY ARE LOCAL DISTRIBUTORS FOR HOODS.

Believing that there is a good field in this district for the Hood Tire, the Packer & White Auto Company have taken the agency and are the local distributors. The Hood Rubber Company is one of the old, responsible concerns and their name on a tire is said to be a guarantee of excellence. They are advertised as "The Extra-Ply Tires" and an interesting little book which is also a fine piece of typography, has been published by the company to explain the "why" of the "Extra Ply."

The book states that the Hood Tires are made to fit all standard sizes of rim and oversize for same, and that the tire is made in three styles, viz., the Clincher type, which is made with a flexible bead and which has an inside diameter averaging 1/2-inch less than the diameter of the rim so that it has to be stretched over the hook of the rim in order to be put on; second, the Q. D. Clincher which fits on a detachable rim but which has an inextensible bead. This type is made 1-32d inch larger than the rim diameter so that it slides easily on the rim after the retaining rim and flange have been taken off. The S. S. type, which also goes on a detachable rim, has a different type of bead construction to fit the S. S. type of flange.

Relative to cord casings and tire construction the book states: "The original cord tire for automobiles was a descendant of the old Palmer cord tire for the bicycle, and the first one put out in this country was the Silvertown, of two-ply construction of cord cables, the cable being made up on special machinery with a rubber core and braided and twisted construction of threads around the core, thoroughly impregnated with rubber. The cables are vulcanized in a one-mould cure process and the tire is blown up against the mould by an air bag. This resulted in a tire resilient on the road, but which was susceptible to punctures and cuts which it was difficult to repair, so there developed in place of the two-ply cable the multiple-ply cord developed from the electric vehicle tire where the carcass was made up of thread fabric—of warp yarns with a very light filler thread every two or three inches, just enough to hold it together. The present multiple-ply cord tire developed from this type and is made only of warp yarns, but the yarn is of special twisted construction. It is then rubberized and eventually vulcanized by an elaborate process. The cord tire, it is claimed, rides easier than a fabric tire because owing to its construction it is possible to run the cord tire with less inflation pressure, size for size.

The fabric in the Hood Tire is said to excel any other fabric used in tire construction today and the Hood Tire has an extra strength of carcass, due not only to extra strong fabric, but an extra number of plies which, it is said, makes the tire anywhere from 10 to 30 per cent. stronger than the so-called standard tire. The more plies there are, the greater strength you have to offset the increased air pressure in the inside casing when the tire, under the weight of the car, strikes a stone in the road. The ribbed tread of the Hood Tire furnishes air space sufficient to give easy riding, full round construction so as to be safely run at a minimum inflation pressure, and a ribbed tread design reducing traction hold on the road, reducing expenditures of gasoline. The fine fabric and the multiple plies are calculated to give the maximum service for the minimum of trouble, and the uniformity of the tires is also mentioned as an advantage as is also the thickness of tread, which affords protection against punctures. There are many other virtues enumerated in the description of these tires which would at once commend themselves to experienced tire users and those who are interested would do well to "Look in the book and see."

FIFTY HAPPY YEARS

MR. AND MRS. P. J. DAUGHERTY CELEBRATE THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

About sixty guests enjoyed the celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Daugherty of Los Angeles, which was given at G. A. R. Hall, Tuesday evening, by their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Chappius, who were assisted in receiving by Mesdames Ferry and Carey and by Misses Virginia Chappius and Viola Drendle.

A mock marriage ceremony at which Peter Ferry officiated was a feature of the pleasant affair and was followed by a grand march with Miss Spaulding at the piano, led by Mr. and Mrs. Daugherty and little Dorothy Chappius and Mary Alice Ferry as flower girls, which ended at the banquet hall, where a delicious wedding supper was served in courses which was featured by a handsome wedding cake cut by the bride. After the feast toasts to the good health and long life of the guests of honor were offered by Messrs. Fitzsimons, Ferry and Graham, Mesdames Ferry, Barlet and Will Carey, and by Miss Nellie Dougherty, and to these felicitations a fitting response was made by Mr. Dougherty. The decorations of the hall were golden in color, suggesting the character of the celebration, golden rod and sunflowers being effectively employed for the purpose. Upon the tables in the banquet hall a more delicate floral scheme was carried out with pink and white carnations.

On returning to the hall a dance program, chiefly old-fashioned contra dances including the Virginia Reel, quadrilles and the old-time waltz, was enjoyed, though there were a few modern numbers for variety.

The guest list from Los Angeles included: Mr. and Mrs. Merical, Mrs. Metz, Miss N. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Graham and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. Fitzsimons and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Bard and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Jessery, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, Marie and Charles Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Purnell and daughter, Mrs. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Coutts, Mrs. Leath, Mrs. Griley and son, Viola Drendle and Mr. Mason.

J. Daugherty, Miss N. Daugherty of San Francisco, Seward McMillan, Miss Louisa Spaulding.

During the evening the happy pair around whom the festivities centered were surprised by the presentation of a purse filled with gold pieces, the gift of relative and close friends.

A SENSIBLE VACATION

Mrs. Ella Richardson is giving her two sons, John and Paul, a very sensible as well as pleasant vacation. Eight hours of each day they work in farm and garden. The balance of the day is given to recreation. Monday evening the Richardsons and Meekers drive to Brookside Park, Mrs. C. E. Shattuck and her daughter Gwendolin accompanying them as guests of Mrs. Richardson, while in the Meeker car were Mrs. West and Miss Cora Louise Tibbitts, daughter of a celebrated opera singer, as guests. Tuesday evening the Richardsons and Meekers, accompanied by Miss Tibbitts, drove to Bimini and joined the John A. Logan family, Helen Becker and Pearl Pollock in a picnic supper at Griffith Park. Later all gathered at the Richardson home for a watermelon feast. Miss Tibbitts, who participated in all the excursions returned today to her home in San Diego.

THE LEIGH BANCROFTS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Leigh Bancroft of Brand boulevard have returned from a two weeks' outing at Big Bear Lake where they occupied a pretty cottage overhanging the lake and had a delightful time with other friends feasting on brook trout and enjoying the wild life. Mrs. Bancroft is enthusiastic about the loveliness and coolness of the camp, which can be reached by three routes, all of which are beautiful. A fine new hotel and several new camps have increased its attractiveness as a resort and she is warmly recommending it to all who plan mountain trips. Since her return she has been entertaining her nephew, Scotty McIntosh of Moore Park, Ventura county, and she is anticipating a visit from her mother, who lives in Topeka, Kansas.

TRAVELS 2,000 MILES

MR. WHITING ACCOMPANIES DR. SHEDD ON LONG LECTURE TOUR.

The friends of Calvin Whiting are ready to give him a certificate testifying to the fact that he is a good fellow and the kind of a chum to have. Dr. Shedd of Occidental, with whom Mr. Whiting has been journeying lately, is most appreciative. Dr. Shedd was booked to deliver a course of lectures at the interdenominational conference recently held at Asylomar, so Mr. Whiting proposed serving as transportation agent. It was an exceedingly pleasant trip as Asylomar is an ideal spot for such an outing. It is a camp similar to those established by the Chautauqua and is maintained by the Y. W. C. A., which owns the grounds on which are a fine auditorium, dormitories, dining halls and all comforts and conveniences. They overlook the Pacific and are cool in the hottest of weather. As Mr. Whiting could not be absent from his business for the full term of Dr. Shedd's engagement, he returned to Glendale, caught up with his accumulated work and then went north again to continue his travels with Dr. Shedd. They spent a day at Stanford University as the guest of Dr. Shedd's niece, who is a daughter of the famous Dr. Shedd of Persia. Their initial journey was made by the coast route and they came home through the San Joaquin Valley, visiting all the principal cities on both routes, taking in Bakersfield, Fresno and other large towns in the course of which Mr. Whiting's auto covered about 2000 miles.

DR. TEEL CALLED

DR. EMIL THOLEN OVERSEAS

Mrs. Emil Tholen of 703 Brand boulevard was relieved to receive yesterday a card announcing the safe arrival over seas of her husband. The card did not state whether he was in France or Italy and she will anxiously await further particulars. Mrs. Tholen has been having a very quiet life since her return from the east whither she went to say good-bye to the doctor. She had the pleasure of entertaining Friday Mrs. T. W. T. Richards, who resided in Glendale years ago at Central avenue and Riverdale drive, and who has many friends here. She is now residing with her daughter, in Piedmont, near Berkeley.

REV. SNUDDEN CALLED

METHODIST MINISTER IS ACCEPTED FOR SERVICE AS ARMY CHAPLAIN

It is reported that Rev. B. Dudley Snudden, pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city has received a commission as army chaplain and is now awaiting the call to service. Mr. Snudden preferred service in the Y. M. C. A. where he felt he could get closer to the soldier boys than he could as an officer whom they were obliged to salute. His bishop wished him to go as a chaplain and the bishop evidently won out. Mr. Snudden is a good soldier and can be depended upon to obey orders loyally and give good service wherever he is sent. He and Mrs. Snudden are away for a two weeks' vacation.

CAPT. MABRY BUSY

Mrs. William C. Mabry of Acacia avenue, reports that her doctor husband is still at Camp Kearny and has been very busy since his arrival there where he was at once placed in charge of a ward in the base hospital. Having seen service in the army before Capt. Mabry is excused from the military training that most of the enlisted physicians have to undergo. He writes that he is very well and that he likes the location of the camp and the climate.

THE COMMISSION QUESTION

Since the opening of the war all minds have been turned in the direction of conducting business in the most economical manner. Prior to the war the idea prevailed that it was a good thing to give men employment regardless of how necessary their work might be to the building up of our country. It was thought by many that the paying out of salaries from the federal, state, county or municipal treasuries was the means of placing money in circulation and therefore there was no objection to many seemingly useless appointments.

Now, the great question is to make use of the mental and physical energies of all men for the winning of the war. The man who is at the present time drawing a salary from any concern and is not doing something that tends to build up his country and directly or indirectly be the means of helping to win the war is a mere blank in this stage of the program and his energies should be turned in other directions.

Something less than ten years ago there went forth in the state of California a great cry for a change in the plan of government of the state. At that time the commission form of government became popular and there are those of us who believe now that many wrongs were righted by the change. It now seems however that this practice of the appointment of commissions has been abused and it is now the prevailing law to have a commissioner and sub-commissioners for all departments of state industries until, the real truth of the matter is, thousands of men are kept busy checking up the work of many needless commissions. To be plain about it one set of men are doing work merely to keep another set of men busy. This theory of carrying on state, county and municipal government may seem all right on a printed page, but in the time of war when every man should be either a fighting soldier at the front or a producer of that which will feed and clothe the soldier there is no need of men holding such useless positions.

Politicians and officeholders who are getting financial benefit from these commissions at the present time are quick to warn the voters that there is great danger of going back to the old form of government of ten or fifteen years ago. Is it not the truth that the present commission plan is more expensive and obnoxious than any form of government has ever been and should not the people of all parties get together and make a sensible reformation along these lines? This is no time for Red Tape manipulations in the state of California. It is the time for all red-blooded citizens to get busy and do something that is absolutely for the good of their country.

REVOLUTIONIZE CONDITIONS

There are people who seem to have despaired of the future. Everything, they say, is on the down grade. One man says this war of inexplicable cruelties and inhuman outrages has wrecked his faith. Another sees every humane movement retarded a half a century. Another insists that after the war social and industrial revolutions await us ready to make every last thing first and every first thing last. Still another declares the progress of the world has been set back a hundred years.

It's the way you look at it. And the way you look at it depends much upon your knowledge of the past and your inner vision of what are the great realities. If this world to you is only like a ship drifting without chart or compass upon a shoreless sea at the mercy of every wind that blows and tide that runs, then such an experience as this through which it is just now passing means only a battered hull, torn cordage, tattered sails—almost a wreck, and generations will be needed to make it look again even respectable. But if the world never has rolled on through all the sea of time, hit or miss, if in spite of all that looks to the contrary there have been chart and compass aboard, and some one at the helm who has known what he was about, if this be true, and multitudes are confident the facts warrant the conviction that it is true, then our ship no matter what the storm or how long the night has not lost her course.

Let us rest assured that the moral forces of the world have been and always will be the all-conquering forces. It is a better world that is to be. Many a hoary wrong will be found to have been trampled to its death on the frightful fields of this sad war. Many an ancient evil, entrenched in human customs and conventions, social, political, religious, will be blown to atoms ere all the human explosives flung out by the great conflict are exhausted; and justice, truth, humanity, and all the virtues that keep them company, will command the reverence of mankind as never before. It is for this better world to be that our noblest and bravest are gladly laying down their lives. It is ours to stand behind them not only with our service and our money, but with this unwavering faith that they fight a winning battle.—Our Dumb Animals.

Every report that comes to us from the camps and remount stations of the United States leads to the belief that never before in the history of warfare has so much care been given to the horses and mules of an army as is being given to those of our army today.

ASSOCIATION FOR BETTERMENT OF PUBLIC SERVICE

The progress of a democracy depends upon the preservation of the liberties of the citizen from unnecessary political invasion or control; upon those guarantees of safety to person and property that contribute to manly independence, industry and thrift; upon the simplicity and directness of governmental agencies acting through positive as distinguished from discretionary laws; upon the keeping of the burden of taxation as low as is consistent with effective government economically administered; and, finally, upon inculcating a universal love of country founded upon a sublime sentiment of patriotism and loyalty so deep-seated and abiding that class hatred and class instinct cannot exist.

The marvelous achievements of the American people, placing her in the foremost rank among the family of nations, were made possible only by an adherence to these fundamental, expensive measures of reform.

California is no exception to the rule. We have saddled ourselves with a larger number of expensive bureaus and commissions than any other state.

We have clothed these commissions with wide discretionary powers, giving to them in many instances the power of life and death over our industrial and business enterprises.

California has become a veritable politician's paradise.

For these and other reasons the cost of state government in California has so increased during the past ten years that the per capita cost of government in this state is exceeded by only one other state in the nation and is far in excess of the per capita cost of other states having equal wealth and population.

This alarming increase in the cost of government has necessarily resulted in a proportionate increase in the rate of taxation.

In 1902 the population of California was 1,673,343; in 1917 the population was 3,029,032—an increase of 81.01 per cent.

In 1902 the annual expense of state government was $8,207,594.14; in 1917 the expense of the state government was $23,266,858.53—an increase of 183.47 per cent.

California industry is groaning under these burdens and restraints. They rest upon the shoulders of the producers and ultimately upon the workers of the state.

Every man, woman and child, and the worker most of all, should demand retrenchment in expenses of state government.

Such conditions are lamentable in time of peace. They discourage investment, retard development and make general prosperity impossible. But in the time of war, when the nation is marshaling its total material resources as well as its full man power in defense of every institution of democracy, "using force without stint," such conditions in our state government are intolerable.

We lay the blame at the door of no particular man of any political party.

Many of us have been misled by plausible but impossible and expensive schemes for advancing the general good, and so unintentionally have contributed to the ultimate unfortunate result.

But the time has come to call a halt.

It is imperatively necessary that there be a careful and painstaking scrutiny of the present attitude, past record and social, business and political affiliations of each of the candidates for public office, in order that thoughtful men and women of all political parties may join in a concerted movement to secure the election of men of experience, ability and breadth of vision; men of unswerving integrity and courage, and, finally, men of unquestioned loyalty and devotion to our American government and its ideals.

In order to further these purposes:

Be it resolved, that we, here present, without regard to our party affiliations, organize ourselves into an association to be known as the Association for Betterment of Public Service;

That we proceed as such organization to elect such officers, appoint such committees and employ such agencies as may be found necessary or advisable in carrying out these purposes.

We therefore call upon all good citizens of Los Angeles county, merchants as well as farmers, employers as well as employees, women as well as men, and of all political parties, to join us in this movement to select the best men available, particularly for members of the Senate and Assembly of this State, who are committed to the principles and policies herein set forth.

THINK IT OVER

In 1917 many new sugar factories were built in the west and the future of this industry looked bright.

No sooner were these factories ready to handle a greatly increased tonnage than agitation was started among the farmers to demand an unheard of price for beets or refuse to raise them.

The government price set on sugar placed a definite limit on amount factories should pay for beets.

To satisfy the beet growers a federal commission was appointed to investigate and set a price which it did, slightly higher than already offered by companies, giving the farmers double the prices paid before the war.

The sugar companies accepted the government price and made every effort to secure increased acreage so earnestly urged by the government, but influences beyond their control seemed to be working against the sugar industry and the result is that according to best estimates sugar beet acreage will show a marked decrease at a time when increased production was most essential.

One of the west's great industries has suffered severely and several communities, which will lose sugar factories and others in which factories will not operate will realize too late that it is not the agitator who maintains payrolls and pays taxes, but industries which the agitators attack.

Incidentally many persons now realize that the campaign against raising sugar beets has been great aid to Germany in cutting rather than increasing our beet sugar production at this critical time.

Think it over.—The Manufacturer.

THE PEOPLE AND WAR TAXES

More than $3,500,000,000 has been collected in internal revenue taxes, including income and excess-profits taxes, for the fiscal year. This exceeds by over $100,000,000 the estimates made a few months ago, and by over $200,000,000 the estimates made a year ago when the revenue measures were passed by Congress.

The success in collecting this large revenue is attributed by the Treasury Department to the patriotism and co-operation of the American people in promptly and cheerfully meeting the war burdens imposed upon them.

MAILING YOURSELF MONEY

Every time you stick a Thrift or War Savings Stamp on your card you are mailing money to yourself to be received later with interest. Cashing in these stamps is going to be better than "getting money from home," for with the money comes the reminder that you contributed to the great victory which then will have been completely won.

A CALL TO DUTY.

From the battle fields in France there comes an unspoken call that should find an answer in every American's heart. The recent great events in Europe, the successes of American arms on the fields of France should spur every American to greater effort.

Our people at home should not rest on the laurels of our soldiers in France. Every death on the field of honor in the line of duty and for our country's cause should be a call to us for every sacrifice and every exertion to aid the cause for which our soldiers are fighting, for which our soldiers have died.

Increase production, decrease consumption, save, and lend to the government. Every cent lent to the United States is used to support, strengthen, and aid for our soldiers in France.

General Pershing, in an acknowledgment of greetings sent by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America (Protestant,) says that "chaplains are very important influences in the highest efficiency of the army. The men need them for all kinds of help. They sustain the men especially at the most critical times." The general adds the very best clergymen are wanted for chaplains.

Suppose it were "over here"?

CENTRALIZE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

We beg to direct your attention to the plans of the U. S. Employment Service, and to the great effect which this program will have upon the industrial life of the nation.

On August 1, the supplying of war industries with common labor will be centralized in the U. S. Employment Service of the Department of Labor, and all independent recruiting of common labor by manufacturers having a payroll of more than 100 men will be diverted to the U. S. Employment Service. This is in accordance with the decision of the War Labor Policies Board and approved by the President on June 17. (The War Labor Policies Board is composed of representatives of the War, Navy and Agricultural departments, the Shipping Board and the Emergency Fleet Corporation, the War Industries Board, and the Food, Fuel, and Railroad administrations. Its chairman is Felix Frankfurter, assistant to the Secretary of Labor.) The above action was found necessary to overcome a perilous shortage of unskilled labor in war industries. This shortage was aggravated by an almost universal practice of labor stealing and poaching.

While the restrictions against the private employment of labor apply only to common labor at the present time, these restrictions will, as soon as possible, be extended to include skilled labor. In the meantime, recruiting of skilled labor for war production will be subject to federal regulations now being prepared.

The drastic change in the nation's labor program has been found necessary in order to protect the employer and the employed, to conserve the labor supply of the communities and to cut down unnecessary and expensive labor turn-over (which, in some cases, is as high as 100% a week,) and to increase the production of essentials.

While non-essential industries will be drawn upon to supply the necessary labor for war work, the withdrawal will be conducted on an equitable basis in order to protect the individual employer as much as possible.

Under the operating methods adopted, the country has been divided into thirteen federal districts, each district in charge of a superintendent of the U. S. Employment Service. The states within each district are in turn in charge of a state director, who has full control of the service within his state.

In each community there is being formed a local community labor board, consisting of a representative of the U. S. Employment Service, a representative of employers and a representative of the employed. This board will have jurisdiction over recruiting and distributing labor in its locality.

A survey of the labor requirements is being made, and in order that each community may be fully protected, rulings have been issued that no labor shall be transported out of any community by the U. S. Employment Service without the approval of the state director; nor shall any labor be removed by the service from one state to another without the approval of the U. S. Employment Service at Washington. Every effort will be made to discourage any movements from community to community or state to state by any other service.

This labor program has the approval of all producing departments of the government, through the War Labor Policies Board.

It must be understood that farm labor will be protected, for the industrial program distinctly includes special efforts to keep the farmer supplied with labor.

The requirement that unskilled labor must be recruited through the sole agency of the U. S. Employment Service does not at present apply in the following five cases:

1. Labor which is not directly or indirectly solicited.
2. Labor for the railroads.
3. Farm labor—to be recruited in accordance with existing arrangements with Department of Agriculture.
4. Labor for non-war work.
5. Labor for establishments whose maximum force does not exceed 100.

When the survey of labor requirements has been made and the aggregate demand for unskilled labor in war work is found, each state will be assigned a quota, representing the common labor to be drawn from among men engaged in non-essential industries in that state.

These state quotas will in turn be distributed among localities. Within each locality, employers in non-war work, including those who are only partially in war work, will be asked to distribute the local quotas from time to time amongst themselves. Quotas by localities and individuals are to be accepted as readily as they are for Liberty Loan and Red Cross Campaigns. This plan of labor quotas is a protection for all communities.

The object is to keep any community from being drained of labor, and to use local supply, as far as possible, for local demand. The situation, however, is such that in certain cases some men may have to be transported over long distances.

You will note from the above outline that this is probably the most drastic action that the government has taken since putting the National Army draft into effect. The absolute necessity for this program can be seen when it is realized that in Pittsburgh, for instance, there are advertisements calling for men to go to Detroit; while in Detroit street cars there are posters asking men to go to Pittsburgh. This same condition is apparent all over the United States and in the consequent shifting of labor a great part of our war effort is dissipated.

AMERICAN AND GERMAN FINANCES.

Pessimistic Americans who view with alarm our increasing national obligations may derive a great deal of comfort from a comparison of the financial condition of the United States contrasted with that of Germany.

The total resources of the United States are estimated at about $250,000,000,000; our annual earnings are estimated at about $50,000,000,000. Our national debt, including the third liberty loan, may be put around $12,000,000,000.

Before the war our government was spending about $1,000,000,000 a year. When the war is ended, interest charges, less the interest collected from our loans to our allies, government insurance expenses and other necessary expenditures growing out of the war may conservatively be estimated at something like $1,000,000,000. We are confronted, therefore, when peace comes, with raising only a couple of billions a year revenue, a slight task for a nation of such tremendous wealth, capacity, and resources.

The resources of Germany before the war were estimated to be $80,000,000,000. The annual expenditures then of the Imperial government were about $800,000,000. Her debt now is $30,000,000,000, and her resources and man power have been severely impaired. After the war she is confronted with additional expenditures growing out of the war totaling some $4,000,000,000.

The interest of her war debt, even if the debt grows no larger, will be about $1,500,000,000. Although she is niggardly in her pensions to private soldiers and their families, $1,000,000,000 a year would hardly suffice to pay even small pensions to her injured and the families of her soldiers who have been killed. Her war debt must be paid some time and a sinking fund of 5 per cent. would add $1,500,000,000 to her annual taxation. Here is a total increase of $4,000,000,000 all due to the war.

Of course, both the United States and Germany may greatly increase their debts, but the increases will not change the relative situations.

The German government has drained the German people of their gold, even their jewels and heirlooms, and yet the Imperial Bank of Germany now has but little over $500,000,000 of gold in its vaults. The United States has made no special effort to obtain gold, has made no call upon the people for the precious metal, and yet today has in its treasury vaults practically $2,500,000,000 of gold coin and bullion.

NEWSPRINT PAPER TO BE MADE FROM SAWDUST

Newsprint paper from sawdust is a fact. Not only is the idea being worked out in the United States, but the London Times already is using the material. In a recent issue, just received in this country, the Times says editorially:

"Sawdust is a by-product produced in Britain. It takes the place of wood pulp, the importation of which is greatly reduced owing to government restriction. Sawdust paper is manufactured by the Donside paper mills, Aberdeen, where experiments have been in progress for a considerable time and are still being carried on in the hope of effecting further improvements."

The importance of the new process to the newspaper business cannot be overestimated. Sawdust newsprint paper, if entirely successful, means alleviation of the threatened famine. The war, as is generally known, has forced newsprint paper to new high rates, and actually has resulted in scores of small newspapers being forced out of business, either because of inability to buy enough paper for their needs or inability to pay the prices demanded by paper makers.

VEGETABLE PROTEIN FOR CHICKENS.

Among the poultry experiments now being conducted on the government farm at Beltsville, Md., are a number of feeding tests in which the value of vegetable protein is being compared with beef scrap. One pen of chickens fed a mash containing 20 per cent. beef scrap produced in five and one-half months an average of 63 eggs per hen. Another pen fed a mash consisting of 10 per cent. peanut meal and 10 per cent. beef scrap produced an average of 53.4 eggs per hen during the same period. The hens in a third pen which were fed a mash consisting of 10 per cent. soybean meal and 10 per cent. beef scrap averaged 44.4 eggs for the period. In other pens cottonseed meal and velvet-bean meal were fed as part substitute for beef scrap with the result that the hens produced a fair egg yield, though not as high as the hens in the first pen mentioned.

BRITISH AVIATORS TO MAKE AIR TOUR OF MIDDLE WEST.

Brig.-Gen. Charles F. Lee, commanding the British Aviation Mission to this country, assisted by Capt. J. J. Hammond, James Fitz Morris, W. A. Hannay, and G. D. Hunter, will make an airplane tour of the Middle Western States. They expect to start from Indianapolis on or about August 14, and stop at 16 of the principal mid-western cities to give exhibitions and lectures. The total air distance to be flown cross-country is approximately 2500 miles.

The purpose of the tour is to demonstrate, in a practical manner, what fighting in the air is. These distinguished officers of the Royal Air Force, all of whom have seen active service in the present war, will show that "stunting" in the air can be accomplished with ease and safety, and will point out in their public talks the necessity for teaching advanced flying to our young aviators who are now preparing for the front.

The itinerary probably will include air flights by at least three machines between Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Dayton, Columbus, Cleveland, Buffalo, Detroit, Toledo, Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Des Moines, Omaha, Kansas City, and St. Louis, probably in the order mentioned. Flights over these cities will also be made, the fliers going through aerial battle tactics and all the air antics known today. The entire tour will extend through August, ending early in September.

The airplanes used will be a Bristol fighter and a De Havilland fighting machine, both two-seated planes, and two British Avro two-seated training planes. It is hoped that some of the single-seated Sopwith Camels and S. E. 5's will be available, but it is possible that they may not arrive in time.

The Committee on Public Information has arranged for these talks and flights and secured the co-operation of the civil authorities. Capt. G. D. Hunter, R. A. F., left Washington recently for Indianapolis, where he will start on a trip around the proposed circuit, making arrangements and selecting landing sites. As soon as definite arrangements have been made a detailed schedule will be announced.

EVERY TOOTH VISIBLE.

"All right, here they are, look at them." This was the reply of a local manufacturer whose health has been unsatisfactory and who went to a local doctor for examination and treatment. Some of the doctors are ordering patients to have their teeth extracted when rheumatism or other aches fail to respond to treatment. Some perfectly sound teeth have been pulled to relieve patients of illness and they say the loss of all the teeth has in some cases shut off the poison which pyorrhea is said to supply to the circulatory system. This particular manufacturer submitted to a thorough examination and the doctor then said:

"I can't find the cause of the trouble. There must be something wrong in your teeth. Let me look at them." And then the accommodating patient opened his mouth and handed the astonished doctor an upper and lower plate.—Indianapolis News.

LITTLE FOLK MUST HAVE VEGETABLES AND MILK.

WASHINGTON—Don't stint your children on milk or green vegetables. Give them plenty of spinach; and fish and chicken in preference to coarser meats. Eat war substitutes yourself, but be guarded in what substitutes you give your children. All cereals require long cooking for the child; keep fried things away from them.

These warnings are voiced by Mrs. Max West, United States Children's Bureau child expert in urging the Bureau's Campaign for better babies and children.

"Authorities on the subject," says Mrs. West, "agree that there is practically no substitute for milk or green vegetables in the food of the growing child."

LORD'S PRAYER COULD NOT PASS THIS CENSOR

A well known Senator annoys his colleagues, sometimes, because in his desire to make legislation thoroughly good, he insists on many amendments. During discussion in committee recently, this Senator, whose name is not Brown, insisted on amending and amending, practically without end.

Finally, somewhat exasperated, a colleague said to him, "Brown, I believe if the Lord's Prayer were being discussed here, you would want to amend it."

Brown replied: "Yes, I would. I would change the clause 'Lead us not into temptation' to read 'Give us strength to resist temptation.'"

WHERE FACES ARE REMADE

In Sidcup, Kent, there is a hospital which devotes itself entirely to treatment of injuries of the face.

Soldiers enter the hospital with faces smashed beyond recognition. Very few visitors are admitted, and most of the men would rather die than meet their friends and relatives. Doctors and nurses work untiringly in their efforts to repair the ravages of shrapnel and high explosives, so that sooner or later their patients can face the world without causing beholders to shudder in horror.

Often the treatment takes months, and men who are perfectly sound physically just hide themselves away there until their faces assume some semblance of God's image.

DEVIL DOG DITTY

By CHARLES B. DRISCOLL.
The Lounge Lizards leap from their couches of clay,
The Devil Dogs bark and are up and away,
An' it's ho! for th' blood of a Hun!
An' it's yo! for the trusty ol' gun!
For the Heinies will suffer today!

"They've been killin' the wives of these brave little frogs."
Says one of the bunch of the ol' Devil Dogs,
"So they won't get no mercy from me!
If you watch, 'twill be killin' you'll see,
Fer I used to help Pa slaughter hogs!"

They are off, to the music of seventy-fives!
They seem to be having the time of their lives,
Eyes fixed on the goal straight ahead!
A Heinie—a flash—he is dead!

The Heinies have seen what is more than enough;
These Yankees deliver the regular stuff!
Yes, they know how to act in a fight
For a cause that they're certain is right,
And their slogan is, "Boys, treat 'em rough!"

BUT ONLY UNCLE SAM CAN MAKE 'EM SWEAR!

Can a woman keep a secret?
She can—under oath.
This has been proved by the fact that some of the most important work now being done in the American intelligence bureaus is being done by the female of the species. They are called upon to handle some of the most vital documents of the government's secret service, file them, translate them and above all, keep them secret.

Before they can get into the work they have to undergo the difficult ordeal of swearing by all that is holy they'll never tell.

HELP UNCLE SAM

Day classes will be resumed in the government free navigation school in Los Angeles beginning Monday, August 5, with Prof. A. Litcher in charge. This announcement was made yesterday by Capt. Charles W. Saunders, chief of recruiting for the Pacific Coast district, who stated also that the rapidly growing merchant marine needs scores of officers to handle the "bridge of ships to Pershing." Twenty students are ready to enter. Applications may be made at the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce by men who have had at least 18 months' experience at sea and who are in good health. The establishment of the government free navigation school has demonstrated that many men having had sea experience are to be found in the inland towns and that they are anxious to help Uncle Sam during the war by returning to a life on the deep.

HOUSEHOLDERS NOT OBSERVING SUGAR RULES

Restrictions governing the use of sugar for home canning and preserving are not being observed by housewives because of an apparent misunderstanding of the rules.

Sugar purchased for canning or preserving must be used for that purpose only and should not be diverted to ordinary household uses. Any appreciable surplus left from canning or preserving should be returned to the grocer during the present emergency shortage, and not retained for table or cooking uses.

One of the volunteer inspectors for the Food Administration reported that out of 150 San Francisco homes visited for the purpose of checking up canned or preserved fruit, more than one-half had technically violated the rules by retaining the surplus sugar, pleading ignorance of the rules. Only one case of hoarding was discovered, that of a woman who had bought 100 pounds for canning and who was able to produce but a half-dozen small glasses of jelly. The Food Administration will immediately investigate this case and if the woman is found guilty her name will be made public in addition to imposition of the penalties prescribed by law for hoarding.

Advertising of candy or other products containing large quantities of sugar will be discouraged by the Food Administration during the shortage.

Go easy with your spoon—more than five million soldier boys are dipping from that sugar bowl.

5. Foremen, paid on monthly basis, increase $40 per month, minimum $155 and maximum $250.
6. New rates are retroactive to January 1, 1918.
7. Beginning August 1, 1918, eight-hour day, with time and one-half for overtime, Sunday work, and seven specified holidays.

WHAT WE FIGHT FOR

The high aims of America and her allies are well expressed in President Wilson's greetings to France on Bastille day:

"As France celebrated our Fourth of July, so do we celebrate her Fourteenth, keenly conscious of a comradeship of arms and of purpose of which we are deeply proud. The sea seems very narrow today, France is so close a neighbor to our hearts. The war is being fought to save ourselves from intolerable things, but it is also being fought to save mankind. We extend our hands to each other, to the great peoples with whom we are associated; and to the peoples everywhere who love right and prize justice as a thing beyond price, and consecrate ourselves once more to the noble enterprise of peace and justice, realizing the great conceptions that have lifted France and America high among the free peoples of the world. The French flag flies today from the staff of the White House, and America is happy to do honor to that flag."

SAVING AND SAVING AND LENDING.

Sir William Goode, of the British Food Ministry, says that from July, 1917, to April, 1918, the United States exported to the allies, 80,000,000 bushels of wheat products. Of this it is asserted that 50,000,000 bushels represented voluntary sacrifices by the American people in their consumption of wheat.

There is a triple economy, a triple aspect to this saving of wheat. It saved wheat for our army and the armies of our allies; it saved money to the American people, and for the most part this money went for the purchase of government war securities.

There is another saving still; this sort of sacrifice and economy is helping win the war—shorten the war—with the resultant saving of soldiers' lives.

LOANS TO OUR ALLIES.

With another credit of $100,000,000 to Italy and $9,000,000 more to Belgium the credits advanced by the United States to our allies now total $6,380,000,000.
